CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENT

By photographing or recording by any means the identifying marks belonging to this vehicle or any passenger or driver, you are entering into a contractual agreement to release the owner of the vehicle from any charges, fees, penalties or other obligations incurred as a result of the vehicle being parked in its current location.

By placing any device upon any part of this vehicle for the purposes of immobilising this vehicle or otherwise depriving the owner of the use of this vehicle, you agree that ownership of any such device passes to the owner of the vehicle with immediate effect. The vehicle owner shall be entitled to remove or destroy the device without any obligation to compensate the owner or installer of such a device. Furthermore, you warrant to the owner of the vehicle that any costs or damages incurred in the installation, removal or destruction of such a device will be paid by the installer.

By taking any other measures to deprive the owner or authorised driver of the vehicle of the immediate and unimpeded use of the vehicle, including but not limited to, blocking in, towing or confining by other means, you authorise the owner to take any necessary measures to recover the vehicle. You agree to release the owner from any charges, damages or other costs incurred as a result of any actions necessary to regain control of the vehicle.

Your contractual agreement is made with the registered keeper of the vehicle as held on record by the DVLA.

Local authorities, police forces and other bodies authorised by Act of Parliament to issue Penalty Charge Notices are exempted from this agreement. The agreement only applies when the vehicle is parked on private land.
